Doing things yourself is timely and getting more popular and trendy. Do you also like to create and fix things in your home and garden? Then this is the book for you!

Make a practical shelf for all your bits and bobs, or a wooden box on wheels. Cast new pots for the garden, give your concrete bowls an inside of porcelain or weave a lovely basket of rope. Try some new techniques like burning wonderful patterns into wood.

Here there are both small and bigger projects using different materials. More than twenty projects are shown with step-by-step instructions, you need only check the handbook to see how you do it.

About the author

Camilla Arvidsson is a photographer, designer and writer. She has had many books published, among others on the art of concrete casting, which have sold in several editions and been translated into other languages. She has been a regular in Swedish magazines with her own DIY projects.
