

DIY DOLLHOUSE

Contents

My home is my castle (in other words, foreword)

Part 1 – General instructions

Materials in general

Wood

Cardboard

Polystyrene sheets – styrox, light sheet and insulating sheet

Window materials

Paints, glues and other sticky stuff

Paper and wallpaper

Other materials

Work tools and work

Scales

Part 2 – Doll house structure and making the different parts

Structure of the house

House cut from the sheets

A box as the preform for the house

A house to be built on a framework

Structure of the roof

A front wall that opens out

Outer surfaces and structures

Inside structures

Part 3 – My house

Two houses made from boxes

1. Shop

2. Lauha's house

A hut made of wooden offcuts

3. Beach hut built on wooden poles

Two paper houses made on a wooden framework

4. Doll house Pirtti

5. Doll house Faunius

Conclusion

About the author

Make a cut-out miniature book!

Tee itse nukketalo

Hanna Meronen

210 x 255, 144 p

The ideal book for those who dream about their own dollhouse

The miniature world of dollhouses charms both children and adults. A dollhouse can be a product of the imagination or a miniature model of an existing building. You can play with it or it can be a work of art, a building, which offers you a battlefield, a romping ground for creativity and dexterity.

This book shows how to build dollhouses from wood, cardboard and other easily available materials. The basic models have clear drawings, and by adapting the instructions you can plan and realise your own dream house. The building instructions in the book include the house's frame, walls, roof and other solid building parts, such as the doors, windows and stairs, as well as finishing off the inside and outside surfaces.

About the author:

Hanna Meronen is a passionate dollhouse hobbyist, who has been enchanted by the miniatures ever since she was a child. She has built dollhouses and developed her own ways of building for ten years.

BENNET AGENCY

SÖDER MÄLARSTRAND 21
118 20 STOCKHOLM
SWEDEN

MOBILE: +46 704 67 42 70

WWW.BENNETAGENCY.COM

