Felting creates personal, unique figures, with which you can decorate your home to get into the spirit of every annual and festive season.

In Tea Aho's book, the inhabitants of the forest and the fairy-tale figures spring to life as sympathetic felt figures: in the autumnal gloom of dusk the trolls creep into view, Father Christmas' helpers scurry on the winter's snow, when spring arrives the Easter witch flies on her broom, and fairies' wings glitter in the summer sun. The fairy-tale figures are joined by rabbits and other forest animals, not forgetting the slanted-eyed cat.

The book's figures are made by wet felting on top of a metal net support and are finished off with needle felting technique. Every felting has clearly illustrated instructions moving from phase to phase.

About the author

Tea Aho had a long career as an IT engineer but decided to study to become a textile artisan and fell in love with felting.
