Welcome in to a world of knitting filled with ice princesses and elves in the forest!

Here you can experience thirty or so knitted garments with Swedish design. A collection in the most beautiful organic wool which has been photographed in the unique Ice Hotel in Jukkasjärvi, and in various Swedish snowy winter landscapes. With the help of these inspiring pictures, you can travel through ice pillars and ice crystal chandeliers from the fairytale setting of the hotel to snowy landscapes in Scandinavian light.

Feel the softness of wool and its warmth, and experience its pleasant surface which really helps to show the best of structures, like plait and lace stitch. If you move on to the back part of the book, there are easy-to-understand knitting patterns for every garment. All of these are graded for difficulty level, and there are tips and advice so that even a beginner can start to knit. The colours of the collection consist of grey, beige and natural white and are based on the natural colours of the sheep's wool.

About the author:

When she was only six years old, Ingalill Johansson learnt to knit from her mother. That was the start of a great interest and since then her life has consisted of knitting, yarns and design. After many years in the yarn branch, both as a chief designer and with responsibility for production in one of Sweden's largest yarn suppliers, she published her first knitting book in 2010 – a book about knitting with organic woollen yarn. This book was a great success, has been sold to several countries and translated into six languages.
