

WOOD

Contents

Feeling for wood
The forest and wood
Soft and hard woods
At the timberyard
Heavy woods
Board material
Tools and techniques
Measure
Saw
Plane
Chisel and join
File and scrape
Nail and fit
Drill and screw
Whittle
Glue
Sand
Finish
Project
Spice rack
Stool
Herb drier
Breadboard
Knife stand
Shoe shelf
Organizer
Bedstead
Floor lamp
TV bench
Small wall shelf
Coffee table
Flower pedestal
Screen wall
Cultivation table
Planting box with trellis
Plant high up
Balcony table
Balcony bench with storage
Bird table
Index

Trä

Moa Brännström Ott

180x250, 176p

In Wood we learn the foundation carpentry skills that are required to furnish the home with one's own attractive and functional objects. It has its basis in the book's 20 projects, adapted for those of us who may not have gone near a saw since woodwork class at school, we are guided step by step through techniques that make a friend of saws, planers, clamps and chisels.

The book contains practical timberyard knowledge, that is how to pick the right type of wood and the qualities of different wood types, a discussion of tools with emphasis on handheld tools, as well as the methods used to measure, saw, plane, join, whittle and finish in a way that opens up the possibility for domestic carpentry to become a satisfying and fun hobby.

Among the projects are kitchen items such as a spice rack, knife stand, breadboard and herb drier, furnishing items such as shelves, stools, knobs, bookends and a balcony bench. For those interested in home cultivation there is a planting bench, a box and trellis and more, for both indoor and outdoor environments. All the projects are clearly illustrated and arranged according to grade of difficulty for users who are not accustomed to working with wood, but who enjoy the organic feel and expression of the material.

About the author

Moa Brännström Ott freelances in fine carpentry and works with specially designed furniture and objects for restaurants and artists. She often works with designers, especially the design group Uglycute. She has graduated from the Capellagården course in furniture carpentry.

BENNET AGENCY
SÖDER MÅLARSTRAND 21
118 20 STOCKHOLM
SWEDEN
MOBILE: +46 704 67 42 70
WWW.BENNETAGENCY.COM

